COMMANDING GENERAL

HEADQUARTERS
XVIII AIRBORNE CORPS AND FORT BRAGG
FORT BRAGG, NORTH CAROLINA

16 May 1963

Dear Pat:

Thank you for your note. Certainly I cannot imagine anything pleasanter than having you and Pérot turn up in the Land of the Morning Calm, but it seems a mighty remote possibility, as you would be the first to admit.

I would of course like very much to suffer your brainwashing procedure, not excluding the deep-dish martinis. Ursano of the General Officers Branch is setting up briefings for me in June, and I am certain CIA is included.

I simply don't know how to serve properly in Defense of Peace and Freedom in the Far East without your valued association.

All the best to you both,
